

Getting started with `<dita>` and

Alex Jitianu

alex\_jitianu@oxygenxml.com

Agenda

- Organizing/Structuring the content blocks
- Guided authoring
- Searching and Reusing
- Publishing

Building blocks

Organizing the information

What is a DITA Map

- Provides context for the context free topics
- Structures the topics for different requirements:
a tutorial, an user manual

Use case

- Mobile phone user manual

Our topics

The structure

Special feaures

- OxyVoice

- Water resistance

- Fingerprint scanner

Getting started

- Set up your device

  - Install the SIM card

  - Charge the battery

- Using your phone

  - Make a call

  - Send a message

- Important keys and shortcuts

Which information type?

Writing time

- Let's make a call

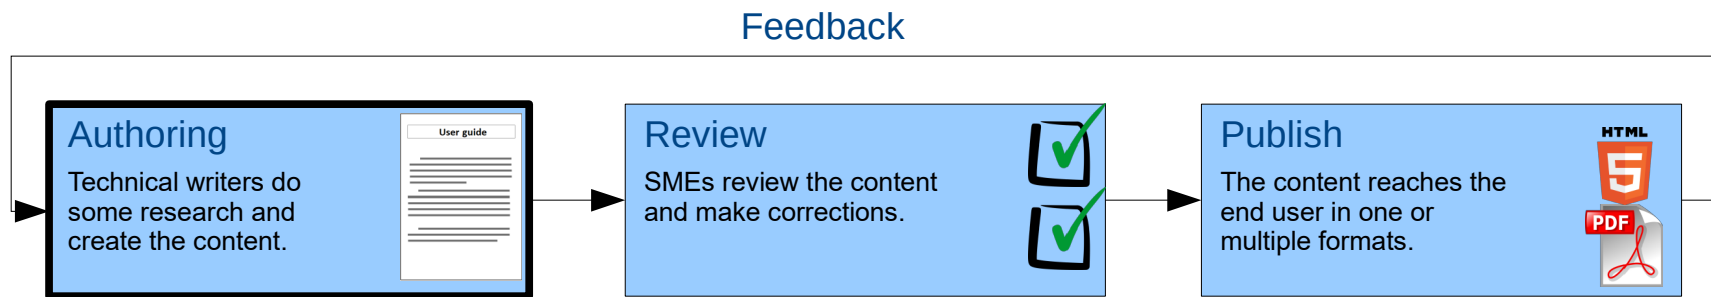

call.dita

Content development process

Content development process

Guided authoring

- “You'll never walk alone!”
  - Contextual hints
  - Seamless editing (text, structure, attributes)
  - Autocorrect + Spellcheck
  - Smart editing assistance
  - Business rules
  - Style guide integration

Writing time (II)

- Making a call

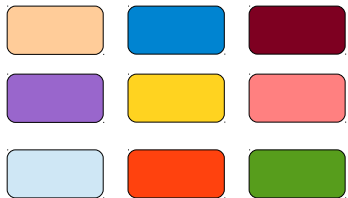

- Keys & shortcuts

Searching

Topics

Searching

Topics

Searching

Topics

Searching

Topics

Searching

Reusing content

- Consistent content/messaging
- Reduce overhead with reviewing, legal approval etc.
- Reduced translation cost

Reusing content

You can't reuse what you can't find!

Publishing

Publishing

- DITA-OT (1.8, 2.x)
- Oxygen DITA-OT plugins
  - WebHelp (Responsive, Feedback)
  - DITA Map PDF - WYSIWYG

Thank you!

Questions?

Alex Jitianu
alex_jitianu@oxygenxml.com
@AlexJitianu